What is OK

Physical

My partner doesn't hurt or threaten to harm me. I feel safe with them.

Sexual

My partner respects my feelings and always asks me for my consent before engaging in sexual activities.

Psychological/ emotional

My partner asks me how I'm doing, respects my boundaries and doesn't like to upset me.

Financial

I have control over my money. We both pay for things when we go out.

Technology-facilitated independence

My partner trusts me, values my freedom and doesn't feel the need to check my phone.

Social

We have the freedom and independence to see family and friends. We understand the importance of these relationships. We respect and trust each other.

Verbal

We calmly discuss our issues and respect each others' feelings.

Spiritual

My partner and I respect each other's beliefs and value our freedom to participate in religious or spiritual practices.

Healthy relationships

What is NOT OK

Physical abuse

My partner throws things at me when they are angry and hits me during arguments.

Sexual abuse

My partner makes me kiss them and do other things even if I don't feel like it. They said it's what I should do if we love each other.

Psychological/ emotional abuse

My partner said they will harm themselves if we broke up.

Financial abuse

My partner uses my money to pay for everything, including when they go out with their friends.

Technology-facilitated abuse

My partner regularly checks my social media accounts, asks for my passwords or tracks where I am using my phone.

Social abuse

I'm not allowed to see my family and friends without my partner's permission or without them being with me.

Verbal abuse

My partner often shouts at me and makes negative comments about how I look.

Spiritual abuse

My partner doesn't like my religion, so I'm not allowed to participate in its practices and rituals.
