Help train the next generation of GPs

Interest in the RACGP's GP training program is at an all-time high, with more doctors than ever choosing general practice as their career pathway.

To ensure the RACGP can provide high quality training experiences for this growing cohort, we are expanding our network of accredited training sites.

Expressions of interest are now open for practices and supervisors in identified priority workforce areas located in MM2-7 and selected MM1 regions.

As an accredited training site, you'll gain access to RACGP support and resources, along with financial incentives for supervision and teaching to support registrar training.
