

Centre for Disability Studies

COMPLEX CARE SERVICE

The Centre for Disability Studies (CDS) has a new health service for people with intellectual disability. The service is called the Complex Care Service (CCS).

Our service is for adults with intellectual disability who have complex health needs and can't get these met by another service. We provide multidisciplinary health assessments, healthcare plans, advice, and referrals. These are led by our Nurse. Our service can be done in person, at our Strathfield clinic or using telehealth.

WHO ARE WE?

Medical Practitioner
Nurse | Allied Health Professionals

WHAT DO WE DO?

- ✓ We work with people with intellectual disability and their supporters when they need extra help with their health
- ✓ Our service is short term and tailored to individual need
- ✓ We provide a report and recommendations. A copy will be sent to the person's General Practitioner.

Our Services:

Comprehensive Health
Assessments

Healthcare
Planning

Assessment
Reports

Suggestions for Services and Interventions

HOW DO I ACCESS THE SERVICE?

Be over 18 with intellectual disability

Be referred by a GP

Have unmet complex needs

medicare

Be eligible for Medicare

REFERRALS

Referrals can be made by a General Practitioner or via the person's local Intellectual Disability Health Service team. The referral must include the person's complex health needs and what services / intervention has been tried to date.

Referrals can be sent via email - ccs@cds.org.au

Contact Us:

Email: ccs@cds.org.au
Website: Cds.org.au

Bethany Centre
18A Margaret Street
Strathfield NSW 2135

CCS: 0434 121 767
Office: 029036 3600

Please note there is no receptionist at the clinic and CCS only operates one day per week.